Light Travelling

Life is hard.

Sceptre International Ltd proposes the production of a new 15 minute television interview-led series called 'Travelling Light.' The people to be interviewed gently will have been through some of the toughest experiences. But in every case, their faith has given them a positive outlook.

The series would confront issues - not people. The subjects might include: Euthanasia, Misconduct in high places, Abortion, Being Young, Parenting, Debt, Handling Death and Abuse of all kinds. The issues are gritty, to be sure, but it's how they are handled that makes the difference. The series would be designed sensitively to help people handle their burdens and could include stories from Britain and near European countries.

To ensure the sensitivity needed and yet to be able to ask the hard questions, a presenter of great skill is required. A Pam Rhodes of BBC's 'Songs of Praise' fame, perhaps.
